

Publication ethics and publication malpractice statement

Our ethic statements are largely based on the guidelines and standards developed by the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE) and set out responsibilities for authors, editors and reviewers as follows:

Responsibilities of Authors:

- By submitting a manuscript to Accounting, Finance and Governance Review, author(s) attest that the manuscript is an original work and that it has neither been published previously nor is currently being considered for publication elsewhere.
- Authors should acknowledge all sources of data used in the research and cite publications that have been influential in the research work.
- Authorship should be limited to those who have made a significant contribution to the submitted manuscript. The corresponding author should ensure that all authors have agreed to its submission for publication.
- Authors should disclose in their manuscript any financial or other substantive conflict of interest that might influence the results or interpretation of their manuscript. All sources of financial support for the project should be acknowledged.
- Authors should promptly notify the editors of any corrections which result from discovery of significant errors or inaccuracies in their published works.

Responsibilities of Editors:

- Editors are responsible for deciding which of the manuscripts submitted to the journal should be reviewed or published.
- Editors should evaluate each manuscript solely on its intellectual contents.
- Editors should ensure the integrity of the publication review process. As such, editors should not reveal either the identity of authors of manuscripts to the reviewers, or the identity of reviewers to authors.
- Editors will not use unpublished materials disclosed in a submitted manuscript for their own research without written consent of the author(s).

Responsibilities of Reviewers:

- Reviewers should conduct the review objectively without personal criticism of the author. They should express their views clearly with supporting arguments.
- Reviewers must not disclose any information regarding submitted manuscript. All manuscripts received for review are to be treated as confidential and privileged information.
- Reviewers should review manuscripts within the specified time period and notify the editors if unable to review the manuscript within this timeframe.
- Reviewers should not review manuscripts in which they have conflicts of interest resulting from competitive, collaborative, or other relationships or connections with any of the authors, companies, or institutions connected to the manuscripts.
